

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN BECOMING A HEALTHCARE INTERPRETER?

PEHI is offering training at no cost for sign language interpreters. We are a cooperative arrangement between Idaho State University and Gallaudet University, funded by the Rehabilitation Services Administration (Grant H160D2100007), in partnership with Louisiana Commission for the Deaf.

What is the cohort training?

Seven months of online learning and coaching

- 7-10 hours/week (with breaks for holidays)

Two months of local or over-video mentoring

- At least 20 hours of observation, supervised interpreting, and/or skill-building activities

Topics include:

- Healthcare interpreting skill enhancement through application of comparative linguistics
- Medical terminology in ASL and English
- Ethics in healthcare settings
- Centering the experience of Deaf consumers
- Lab-based learning: Anatomy & Physiology

Qualifications:

- At least three years of interpreting experience
- BA degree or equivalent
 - Equivalency determined on a case-by-case basis in consultation with the RSA

Benefits:

- Individual supportive coaching during the skills training phase
- Flexible schedule
- Individual supportive mentoring during the induction phase
- RID/BEI CEUs for all completed activities (at least 8 CEUs)
- Individualized Education Plan (IEP) with identified targeted skills development
- Selected participants will receive financial support to travel and take the BEI Medical Interpreter Certification test in Austin, Texas
