

Small Water System Lead and Copper Materials Inventory

In the early 1990's, community and non-transient non-community water systems were required to complete a materials evaluation of their distribution system in order to identify a pool of targeted sampling sites to be used in the water system's lead and copper sampling plan (40 CFR §141.86(a) and LAC 51:XII.1703).

The intent of the materials evaluation was to identify high-risk locations by determining the materials of construction present in the water system's distribution system including the piping, solder, caulking, and interior lining of distribution mains, alloys and home plumbing. In addition, the materials evaluation was required to include locations served by a lead service line and/or other lead plumbing served by the water system.

The United States Environmental Protection Agency (USEPA) has requested States to work with their public water systems to improve transparency regarding the implementation of the Lead and Copper Rule (LCR). On July 11, 2016, LDH sent out a memo to all large public water systems (those serving more than 50,000 persons) requiring them to submit a materials inventory of their distribution system; including locations of lead services lines, together with any updates to the inventory and map(s) of lead service lines and lead plumbing in the system if present.

The following table summarizes the submittals for water systems serving between an estimated 3,301 and 10,000 people. For other water systems and additional information, please visit the Lead and Copper Rule Materials Inventory Depot.
